

Upon the streets, a line is drawn

Separating those who look different.

In schools and stores, the division remains

An invisible barrier, hard to break

Inequalities that cause such pains

A society's foundation, flawed and fake

Let's break the chains of hate and fear

Let love and understanding steer

Our path towards a world
so bright

Where everyone is treated right.

Ethan EDOUARD 3B