

Is it the colour of our skin?
Is it the way of talking?
Is it the music?
Is it the food?
Is it our rich culture?
Is it our men and women?
Martin Luther King for his fight against segregation?
He had a dream. A dream where black people are free. Barack Obama for being the first black president was a part of that dream. Rosa Parks for sitting in the bus. Not putting her foot down was a part of that dream. All the black people, men and women who fought for change were a part of that
